WOMEN EMPOWERMENT CELL

Introduction:

The Pragal festival, also known as the Pragal festival, holds great significance in South India. It is a time when people from different villages gather in a beautiful festival and work together for the upcoming year. In a bid to promote unity and cooperation, a list of departments of our college recently joined hands to celebrate Pragal in nearby villages. The event aims to promote the diversity of the festivals and the positive impact they had on the local communities.

Date: 1.1.2024

Objectives:1. Planning and Preparation:

Months of meticulous planning and coordination preceded the Pragal celebration. A dedicated committee was formed to oversee all aspects of the event. This involved securing venues, compiling requirements from all departments, and conducting a strategic review of activities and resource allocation.

2. Cultural Collaboration:

The Pragal festival is celebrated in various rural and semi-urban villages. Students from the Department of Performing Arts showcased their talents through traditional songs, dances, and dramas. The villagers were captivated by the captivating performances, which added a touch of joy and beauty to the occasion.

3. Traditional Pragal Cuisine:

One of the highlights of the event was the traditional Pragal cooking competition. Students from the Department of Culinary Arts demonstrated their culinary prowess by preparing delicious Pragal dishes using traditional methods. The aroma of freshly cooked Pragal wafted through the air, enticing everyone to indulge in the festive feast.

4. Community Engagement:

The Pragal celebration provided a unique opportunity for our college to engage with the local communities. Students and faculty members actively participated in various community service activities, such as organizing health camps, conducting awareness programs, and distributing essential supplies to the villagers. These initiatives fostered a sense of goodwill and strengthened the bond between the college and the surrounding villages.

Conclusion:

The college's proactive effort in celebrating the Pragal festival in nearby villages was a resounding success. The event not only brought joy and happiness to the local community but also demonstrated the unity and commitment of our college departments. By actively engaging with the villagers and promoting cultural exchange, we have not only achieved our traditional goals but also contributed to the overall development and well-being of the communities we serve.

1010114634 REPORT

Date: 02.12.2024

Introduction

The purpose of this plan is to improve the quality of the program and ensure that the college continues to meet the needs of its students by applying the self-assessment process. By implementing these recommendations, we aim to enhance the efficiency, effectiveness, and transparency of the admission process, ensuring that incoming students are well-prepared for their educational journey.

1. Review and Update Admission Criteria

The committee should thoroughly review the existing admission criteria and ensure they are updated to align with the institution's vision and goals. This includes considering factors such as academic performance, extracurricular involvement, and personal achievements.

1. Enhance Communication Channels

Improving communication channels with prospective students is crucial. The committee should establish a dedicated email address and phone line to address admission-related queries promptly. Additionally, regular updates on the institution's website and social media platforms will keep applicants informed about important deadlines and requirements.

2. Streamline Application Process

Simplifying the application process will make it more accessible to all applicants. The committee should consider implementing an online application system, allowing applicants to submit and track their applications electronically. Clear instructions and guidelines should be provided to assist applicants in completing the required documents accurately.

3. Increase Diversity and Inclusion

The committee should actively seek to increase diversity and inclusion within the student body. This can be achieved by implementing outreach programs targeting underrepresented communities, providing scholarships and financial aid to deserving students, and actively recruiting from diverse backgrounds.

4. Enhance Feedback Mechanisms

To ensure fairness and accuracy in the admission process, the committee should consider implementing a holistic approach. This includes evaluating applicants based on their academic achievements, personal statements, extracurricular activities, and interviews if applicable. Standardized tests should be considered as one of many factors, rather than the sole determinant of admission.

5. Establish Timelines and Deadlines

Setting clear timelines and deadlines for each stage of the admission process is essential. This will help applicants plan and prepare accordingly, while also allowing the committee to efficiently review applications and make timely decisions. Regular updates on the progress of the admission process should be communicated to applicants.

Conclusion

By implementing these action plan recommendations, the college will enhance its admission process, ensuring it meets the needs of its students and aligns with its vision and goals. These changes will not only benefit the institution but also ensure the incoming students have a great educational experience and higher educational goals.

WITNESS TO OUR PIONEERED EDUCATION IN VILLAGES

Introduction

Date: 04.11.2024

The purpose of this action plan is to outline the steps and strategies for college departments to celebrate the Pongal festival in various villages. Pongal is a significant festival that is celebrated in South India, and it provides an opportunity for college students to engage with local communities, and promote cultural exchange. By organizing Pongal celebrations in different villages, college departments can foster a sense of unity, promote cultural diversity, and strengthen community relationships.

Objective

The objective of this action plan is to successfully organize Pongal celebrations in various villages, ensuring active participation from college departments and local communities. The aim is to create a memorable and inclusive event that promotes the essence of Pongal and encourages cultural exchange.

Action Steps1. Planning and Coordination

- Form a Pongal organizing committee comprising representatives from different college departments.

- Assign roles and responsibilities to committee members, including event planning, log list, publicity, and finance.

- Establish regular communication channels to ensure effective coordination and information sharing.

2. Village Selection

- Identify villages in the vicinity of the college that are willing to host the Pongal celebrations.

- Conduct meetings with village leaders and community members to discuss the event and gain their support.

- Consider factors such as accessibility, availability of space, and willingness of the village community to actively participate.

3. Event Preparation

- Create a detailed event plan, including the schedule, activities, and resources needed.

- Arrange for traditional Pongal cooking equipment, such as clay pots and firewood.

- Collaborate with local vendors to procure necessary ingredients for the Pongal dishes.

- Organize cultural performances, including traditional music, dance, and folk art, to enrich the event.

4. Volunteer Engagement

- Recruit volunteers from college departments who are enthusiastic about participating in the event.

- Conduct orientation sessions to familiarize volunteers with the significance of Pongal and their roles during the celebrations.

- Assign specific tasks or roles to volunteers, such as cooking, distribution, crowd management, and transportation.

5. Publicity and Outreach

- Develop a comprehensive publicity plan to raise awareness about the Pongal celebrations.

- Utilize various channels, such as social media, college newsletters, and local newspapers, to promote the event.

A session on Intellectual Property Rights was conducted on 11th March 2024. The session was headed by Mr. M. Suresh Kumar, Assistant Director in the office as given below.

Introduction

Intellectual property is a category of property that includes intangible creations of the human intellect, and includes trademarks, copyrights, patents, and designs. It also includes other types of rights such as trade secrets, utility rights, moral rights, and rights against unfair competition. Artists, writers, the music and film industries, as well as other economic activities, sports, physical systems, and inventions all fit into the category of intellectual property. The main purpose of intellectual property law is to encourage the creation of a wide variety of intellectual goods. Intellectual property rights refer to the general term for the assignment of property rights through patents, copyrights and trademarks. These property rights allow the holder to exercise a monopoly on the use of the work for a specified period.

Major Intellectual Property

Copyright
 Copyright is a legal term describing rights given to creators in their literary and artistic works.

Patent Rights
 Rights granted by law to inventors of new inventions or works in the public domain.

- Patents
- Trademark Registrations

© All rights reserved. All rights reserved. All rights reserved. All rights reserved. All rights reserved.

Patent's Right

It includes inventing, manufacturing and commercializing to the public of a new invention. Its duration is about 20 years.

Right of Breeding Organisms

It includes breeding organisms like a newly discovered microorganism, seedling and transmuting to the public of a breedable. Its duration is about 25 years.

Patent

A patent is an exclusive right granted for an invention, which is a product or a process that provides a new way of doing something, or offers a new technical solution to a problem. The limited monopoly right granted by the state enables an inventor to prevent another person from manufacturing, using or selling the patented product or from using the patented process without permission. The time period of patent is about 20 years.

Industrial Design

An industrial design is the ornamental or aesthetic aspect of an article which must appeal to the eye. The design may consist of three-dimensional features, such as the shape or surface of an article, or of two-dimensional features, such as patterns, lines or color.

Trademark

A trademark is a distinctive sign which identifies certain goods or services as those produced or provided by a specific person or organization.

Geographical Indication

Geographical Indication is an indicator which identifies goods as agricultural goods, natural goods or handicraft goods as originating, or manufactured in the territory of a country, or a region or locality in that territory, where a given quality, reputation or other characteristic of such goods is essentially attributable to its geographical origin.

Layout Design

It includes types of documents and other visual elements, including text and

Trade secret

Some inventions, data, information cannot be patented by one of the available means of IPR. Such information is held confidential as a trade secret. Trade secret can be an invention, idea, survey method, manufacturing process, experiment results, chemical formula, recipe, financial strategy, client list, etc.

It is treated a great impact on the entire audience. Students were taught on how IPR protects copying others ideas and how this will help the development of new ideas for the betterment of the society. Students learn how IPR provides total control over a new invention and its creator.

They were also given a platform to discuss how small innovations influence societies at large and how they should bridge it in writing and presenting ideas that will be useful for all the classes of individuals in the society.

The programme was really interactive, instructional and enlightening. Faculty Ms.A.Sangeetha B.E.E.Com CA checked the gathering. The program was end up with National Anthem.

"Plant a tree and plant hope for future"

To mark the 100th anniversary and to make the world a greener place, the Women's Cell of Idhaya College for Women in collaboration with Higher Secondary School, Srirangapatn on 12.05.2024, under the guidance of principal Dr. S. S. Srinivasan, carried out an awareness program and started the tree-planting movement. The program was held in the school courtyard. The women's cell members and students participated in the program. They were given the task of planting saplings and also of the same time, we will get school grounds greener. This will help them to breathe fresh, clean and better air. This will promote water conservation and protect the dignity of women. We are proud to receive flowers and bouquets for the school building, including traditional garlands and garlands from students and staff members.
